PROBLEM:FINANCIAL HARDSHIP AMONG STUDENTS IN THE UNIVERSITY

Financial hardship is becoming an increasingly serious issue in the university. A lot of students suffer from unstable finances finding it difficult to pay for needs like food, housing and tuition. This financial stress may have a negative effect on one's general well being , mental health, and academic achievement. Students' chances of success are hampered by the cycle of poverty which is made worse by limited access to opportunities and resources. The growing disparity in students' financial capacity highlights the necessity for an extensive support network in higher education. In order to promote an inclusive learning environment and guarantee fair access to higher education it is imperative that student financial hardship be addressed.
